Learning opportunities

During this half term our focus will be discovering me. We will learn about ourselves and how we have grown from babies into children and how we will continue to grow. We will learn about our families and the different religions and cultures that we are from. We will learn about our special place within school and the rules and expectations at school that help us to stay happy and safe. We will start to develop independence both within our activities in the classroom and our physical needs such as putting on our coats ourselves and remembering to wash our hands after the toilet. We will also be learning lots of new Nursery rhymes. As the weather changes we will look at the signs of Autumn and use some natural materials to create Autumnal pictures.

How can you support this topic at home?

- Show your child baby photos and talk to them about what they were like as a baby.
- Talk to them about their family and who makes up their family and what relations they are, you could create a family tree.
- Encourage your child to be more independent, putting on and taking of clothes by themselves, eating with a knife and fork, toileting by themselves.
- Talk to them about any rules you may have and why you have them.
- Share some of the books we will be reading with your child. (Your local library will have copies of them, or the stories are available on you tube)

We will be reading:

- Starting School – Janet and Alan Ahlberg
- Who Are You? – Smriti Halls
- The Leaf Thief – Alice Hemming
- The Best Diwali Ever- Sonali Shah
